

This year's International Human Rights Day event will focus on Criminal Justice Reform.

Join in the panel discussion with the CT leaders and advocates representing legislative proposals addressing automatic expungement, right to vote, housing of people with criminal records and the challenges many face with re-entering their family and community.

The panelists will include Kennard Ray and James Jeter, Co-founders of Unlock the Vote, Latoya McCrea, Director of Community, Economic and Development, New Haven Housing Authority, Fred Hodges, Director of Community Affairs, Prisoner Re-entry Programs, Eric Fishman of CONECT and Rev. Albert Dancy as our moderator.

Our guest speaker, Juan Sanchez, Counselor at Recovery Network of Programs, Inc., will share his life journey as a former gang member.

In addition, young people from the Youth Council 4 Justice (YC4J) Initiative will participate in this event.
